Fontenelle, at the age of 97, after saying many amiable and gallant things to a beautiful young lady, passed before her without seeing her, to place himself at table. See, said the lady, how I ought to value your gallantries, you pass without looking at me. Madam, replied the old man, If I had looked at you I could not have passed. A thirsty patient. During a consultation of Physicians, on the character of a Bacchanalian patient, how to cure his fever and abate his thirst--the sick man observed, Gentlemen, if you will cure the fever, I will take half the trouble off your hands, and abate the thirst myself. Dr. Goldsmith. Dr. Goldsmith having been requested by a woman to visit her husband who was melancholy, called upon the patient and told him he could send some pills which he had no doubt would prove efficacious. He immediately went home, put ten guineas into a chip and sent them to the sick man. The remedy had the desired effect. Polishing. A gentleman jocosely observed to a young lady, that he was about to be married, but as his affections were divided between Miss Miry Brickdust, and Miss Betsy Primestuff, he was at a loss which to choose. I advise you by all means, said the lady, to take Miss Brickdust--you want polishing. A lipsus linguae. A gentleman was lately in a party of ladies, when the subject of conversation turned upon...
